

Summer Term 2: Edition 6

Friday 10th July 2026

This week, our theme was The Colour Monster, helping the children explore and understand different emotions in a fun and engaging way.

The children took part in group discussions where they shared their own feelings and talked about different situations that have made them feel happy, sad, calm, angry, or loved. It was wonderful to see them listening to one another and building their emotional awareness and confidence.

As part of our activities, the children created their own Emotion Jars, using different colours to represent a range of feelings, including happiness, sadness, calmness, anger, and love. This creative activity encouraged them to recognise and express their emotions in a positive way.

The children also enjoyed making their very own Colour Monsters, bringing the story to life through arts and crafts while reinforcing their understanding of how colours can represent different emotions.

We are so proud of how thoughtfully the children participated throughout the week and how they supported one another while learning about feelings and emotions.

Arabic and Islamic Studies

In Arabic Studies, the children have been recapping the names of different animals in Arabic, building their vocabulary through fun and engaging activities. In Islamic Studies, the children have been practising a variety of nasheeds, enjoying singing together while developing their confidence and participation.
